ABOUT THE JOY SCHOOL

The Joy School prepares students with learning differences to return to traditional classroom settings by enabling them to reach their social and academic potential in a safe, supportive environment.

In 1997, The Joy School opened its doors with just four students.

Today, the School, located in Houston's Museum District, is home to 107 children ages 5 to 14. The School draws students from 39 zip codes in a five-county area including Kingwood, Tomball, Porter, Cypress, Missouri City, Sugar Land and Pearland.

The Joy School offers small class sizes and individualized learning plans to meet the unique needs and learning styles of each student, employing a wide range of teaching techniques to help children overcome, or adapt to, their learning differences. Typically students are referred to the School after their learning differences are discovered in other public or private schools. They attend The Joy School until they are ready to return to a mainstream environment, with most students attending for two to four years. Students are highly successful when they return to mainstream public or private schools.
